MARY KELLY

Mary Kelly, a former art teacher from New York, has been teaching courses at the Art Academy since it began several years ago. Her focus in classes is to help students from varied backgrounds to learn the basics of art media and to challenge themselves to create the paintings and art of their imaginations. Kelly holds advanced art degrees from Rhode Island School of Design and Syracuse University and has exhibited widely in the United States and often on Hilton Head Island. She is a member of the Apple Pie Painters and is also a weaver.
