SARA TIFFANY

Sara Tiffany has taught antique decoration and ornamental painting in Pa, NJ and New England. She has also done many wall murals, faux finishes and trompe l'oeil commissions in Hilton Head and Savannah. While researching and painting antique ornamentation she has had her work judged and has been awarded Master Craftsman status in several disciplines by The Historical Society of Early American Decoration. She now serves as a judge with HSEAD and has been a member of the Board of Trustees for nine years.

One of the exciting benefits of learning ancient techniques is adapting your skills for contemporary designs. ANY beginner can learn these skills. Sara has studied textile and surface design at FIT and also painting with a French master in Paris.
